WITH BLACKJACK AND PISTOL!

EXPLOITS OF TWO NEW JERSEY JACK SHEPPARDS.

Blackjack a Woman While Committing a Burgiary, Slungshot a Farmer and Steal a Rig—"I Drove Off With a Pistol in Each Hand, the Reins in My Teeth."

Two youthful bandits, one white and the other a negro boy, are in the custody of the Newark police, held for burglary, highway robbery, horse stealing and assault and battery. The prisoners are Winfield McPherson, 16 years old, 50 Astor street. and Roger Anthony colored, of the same age and living at 53 Green street. McPherson was arrested on Friday night in Newark and locked up at police headquarters, the arrest being kept quiet. At midnight on Saturday the colored boy was taken into custody at a lodging house. The boys were each told that the other was under arrest and had confessed. Then the story of their adventures came out.

McPherson said that on the night of Feb. 26 he and Anthony went to Madison and entered the house of Henry O. Young at Florham Park by breaking a window Young was awakened by the breaking glass and confronted the boys, who both pointed revolvers at him and made him give up all the money he had. It amounted to $1.65 only. Mrs. Young appeared on the scene and was struck on the head with a leather blackjack by young McPherson. This weapon was found in the boy's pocket when he was arrested The boys then made Toung informed the Madison, police of the robbery.

On Tuesday afternoon last, according to the confessions of the boys, they rode to Millburn on a trolley car and after walleing a short distance, overtook Thomas Glancey, a farmer, of Madison, who was sleepily driving home from market. They saked for a lift and were told to get up on the seat. One sat on either side of Glancey, the seat. One sat on either side of Glancey, who soon nodded, but was awakened by feeling hands searching his pockets McPherson said in his confession that when Glancey resisted, he hit him on the head with a stone tied in a handkerchief and after rifling his pockets they took to the woods, leaving the farmer unconscious on his wagen.

head with a stone tied in a handkerchief and after riffing his pockets they took to the woods, leaving the farmer unconscious on his wagon.

At 6 o'clock that night the two boys were back at Young's place. They hid in the barn until midnight. Then they hitched Young's horse to a buggy and Anthony went out to reconnoitre after handing his pistol to McPherson. He signalled to McPherson that the way was clear and walked down the road. Just as McPherson drove out of the barn, Farmer Fisher passed along the road and stopped for a moment in front of the gateway, but thinking it nothing unusual to see Young's rig coming out of the barn at that hour, passed on up the road toward his home.

McPherson says: "I thought I was pinched for sure and taking the reins in my teeth, drove out of the gate with a revolver in each hand and picked Anthony up a little way down the road."

The boys stopped with the stolen rig at a saloon on the corner of South Orange avenue and Eighteenth street, where they offered it for sale at $20 and finally reduced the price to $5. The saloonkeeper said that they must have stolen it and McPherson told him to put it in his barn and he would return and prove that he was all right. The boys didn't return and later on Wednesday the Madison police had notified the police of the surrounding country of the theft of the horse and buggy. Detectives Tyler and Murphy of Newark found the rig and returned it to the owner on Thursday. They then recovered a revolver which McPherson had sold on Wednesday afternoon. On Friday they arrested McPherson, who refused to say anything until his accomplice was arrested. The two boys will be turned over to the Morris country authorities to-day. The calmness with which the young culprits act leads to the suspicion that they have not told their whole story yet and it is believed that BicPherson has another accomplice and has lisen connected with other crimes. He will be called upon to give an account of his movements on Monday night when Joseph Joy, the aged recluse and oil

DESTITUTE AMID PLENTY. Old-time Jockey Found Dying in Squalor Attended by His 16-Year-Old Son.

POUGHREEPSIE, March 8 .- A touching instance of the devotion of a young boy to his father under conditions of the most abject poverty has been brought to light by the discovery on one of the aristocratic residence streets of a man living in a onestory shanty, suffering from consumption, with his sixteen-year-old son as his only companion, nurse and support. The man is Harry Lane, an old-time horse jockey and roadhouse proprietor. He is between 50 and 60 years of age and has broken colts for many prominent men in Dutchess county and New York. The shanty in which he made his home through the intense cold of the past winter is made of rough boards, through the interstices of which the wind finds ready entrance. The roof is leaky, the water often pouring down on the bed on which the poor man rested. It is situated in a barnyard on upper Mill structed in a barnyard on upper Mill street, within less than two blocks of the Second Reformed Church and not a stone's throw from the business part of the city.

Lane's condition was discovered by Supt. Madison of the Rescue Mission, who not long ago rescued two families from the degradation of living in a pigsty in the woods near the city limits. Mr. Madison was shocked when he discovered that a man could exist under the conditions surrounding Lane, with streams of well-diressed teories with a man of the conditions surrounding Lane, with streams of well-diressed teories and conditions of the cond people passing within arm's length of him and none of them aware of his suffering and none of them aware of his suffering and poverty.

With a fund raised by the converted drunkards at the Rescue Mission Dr. Ackert was paid to attend the dying man. The Rev. Mr. Raiston haptized him and a prayer meeting was held in the dirt and senator of his shanty, led by Mr. Madison, and yesterday, by order of the Board of Health, Lane was removed to the City Home, where he has a comfortable room and proper attention. He cannot live long. The contents of the shanty were burned. The boy will be provided with a good home and an opportunity to earn his living.

WIDOW AT M. C. MURPHY'S BIER

NEPHEW OF THE DEAD TAM-MANY MAN PRODUCES HER.

Her Story to Be Told in Court When the Will, Which, It Is Said, Is in Favor of the Bacons, With Whom Mr. Murphy Lived, is Offered for Probate.

One of the mourners at the funeral of the late Michael C. Murphy on Saturday was a woman who, according to Michael C. Murphy, nephew of the dead man, is Col. Murphy's widow. Few persons, even among Col. Murphy's best friends, knew that he had left a widow, and they were very much surprised to hear that there was one and that she will probably make an effort to obtain a share of the estate. It was learned yesterday that she had not been living with Col. Murhpy for twenty years and had not seen him in all that time. Michael C. Murphy of 84 Watts street, who took her to the funeral, would not tell yesterday what he knew about her and her marriage. He said she did not live in the neighborhood. "It was a sad story and will comeout when the will is probated," he said. He also said that he did not know whether or not Mr. Murphy had left a will and knew nothing of who will get his property.

From other sources it was learned that the woman is now known as Mrs. Mary Bergen and that her maiden name was Mary Drennan. When she separated from Col. Murphy, it is said, she took the name of her cousins. Mrs. John Bergen, widow of a cousin, lives at 5 Desbrosses street. She said yesterday that Mary Drennan was married to Mr. Murphy about forty years ago, soon after he came to this country. The girl had lived in the neighborhood of Desbrosses street all her life and she and Mr. Murhpy lived at No. 5 for several years. Mrs. Bergen said that Mrs. Murphy had one daughter who died in infancy and that after living together for twenty years she and Mr. Murphy separated.

After that, Mrs. Bergen said, Mr. Murphy never saw his wife and never contributed to her support. Then Mrs. Murphy called Bergen and that her maiden name was

After that, Mrs. Bergen said, Mr. Murphy never saw his wife and never contributed to her support. Then Mrs. Murphy called herself Mrs. Bergen and obtained employment as a governess, as well as Mrs. John Bergen can remember. She is now living somewhere in The Bronx. Neither the widow nor Mr. Murphy ever told Mrs. John Bergen where they were married. Another person who was unwilling to be quoted said that she had heard the woman referred to as Mrs. Murphy, but never heard any details about their marriage. Frank L. Bacon of 582 Broome street, with whom Mr. Murphy lived, would not see reporters yesterday He sent down word that he was exhausted and sick in bed. No one else in the house would give any information about Mrs. Murphy or about Col. Murphy's will, which, it is said leaves the property to the Bacon children. A cousin named Mrs. Scott has already announced her kinship to Mr. Murphy.

MRS. WORMAN'S HORSEWHIP.

Used, She Says, Because Dr. Myerle Had

Not Returned Her Money. Dr. David A. Myerle of 510 Bedford avenue, Williamsburg, whom Mrs. L. Wor-man, a trained nurse boarding at 80 Lee avenue, horsewhipped Saturday in front of a house at 85 Lee avenue because, as alleged, the physician had lost much of the inheritance left to her at her father's death in speculation, has placed the matter of Kings county. He was called to a house at 85 Lee avenue to see a patient just hefore noon Saturday. Mrs. Worman, whose boarding house is directly opposite, saw Dr. Myerle step out of his carriage. She waited behind a tree box until he came out and as he was about to step into his carriage she pushed him aside, snatched the whip from its socket in the buggy and then lashed him with it until the whip broke then lashed him with it until the whip broke in several places and only the butt end was left. This she hurled at the physician and then she returned to her house.

Dr. Myerie stepped into his carriage and drove off. He said later that about two years ago he and Mrs. Worman, with whom he had become acquainted in a professional capacity, became interested in some stock speculation, and that both lost all the money they invested. Dr. Myerie stoutly denied that he had ever profited by the speculation, and that Mrs. Worman could not furnish any proof that he did.

Mrs. Worman has known Dr. Myerie for a number of years. At the death of her father she inherited several thousand dollars. It was this money, she says, she gave to the physician to invest for her, and she declares she never remixed any return. She has since been Freduced aimost to powerty, while the doctor, she avers, lives in luxury.

Mrs. Worman refused yesterday to talk about the case.

ST. PATRICKS REFUGE,

Under the Care of THE SISTERS OF MERCY CROFTON ROAD, KINGSTOWN, IRELAND.

This Magdalen Asylum was founded in Bow street in the year 1796. The Institution was subsequently transferred to Dominick street and in 1857 to Glasthule. Finally the penitents were removed in 1880, to the present spacious building erected for them in Kingstown. Some of these poor, destitute members of society have grown grey in their persevering efforts to cling, like Magdalen, to the Cross and never to return to that world which shaded their young days with sorrow. Others are only entering on a career of penance—that dreary way which MERCY seeks to brighten—with the bitterness of disappointed hopes, which MERCY strives to sweeten; and with the renouncement of those earthly joys, the falsity of which MERCY endeavours to pourtray.

renouncement of those earthly Joys, the falsity of which MERCY endeavours to pourtray.

This is the good work for which an appeal is now made to those generous hearts ever found ready to aid the suffering.

The Sisters of Mercy would also remind a liberal public that this is by no means a local charity, as the great majority of the penitents seek refuge in St. Patrick's from Dublin and o'b'r districts.

A DEBT OF SOME THOUSANDS OF POUNDS, INCURRED BY THE ERECTION OF THE NEW REFUGE, STILL HANGS OVER THE ASYLUM, and it is to relieve the Sisters of Mercy from part of this heavy responsibility (with which they have burdened themselves for the public good) and to aid them in maintaining the Poor Penitents, that your assistance is now asked.

Surely they who contribute, according to their means, to make the Asylum a comfortable and happy home for these poor penitents are performing a great act of charity, and may expect a magnificent reward, for "Mercy exalted itself above Judgment."

Donations will be gratefully received by His Grace the Most Rev. Dr. Walsh, Archishop of Dublin; the Very Rev. W. J. Murphy, P. P. Kingstown; at the Convent of the Sisters of Mercy, Baggot street, Dublin; and at St. Patrick's Refuge, Crofton road, Kingstown, Ireland.

THE GROTESQUE IN FICTION. Short Essay by John De Witt Warner of the Municipal Art Commission.

The remarks of Contractor John Peirce and the Tammany architect, Vincent J. Slattery, to the effect that the Municipal Art Commission is responsible for the delay in completing the new Hall of Records were referred to yesterday by John De Witt Warner, president of the commission, 'as one grotesque fake from beginning to end in which there is not even an accidental truth."

Mr. Peirce said that the delays were the result of many changes in the plans ordered by the commission. in the hands of a lawyer.

Dr. Myerle is a prominent member of the Hanover Club and the Medical Society

The Hanov "Not a single change has been ordered,"

Art Commission approved the plans. No change has been made that we know of and we are responsible for delays if there have been any."

Architect Slattery accused the commission of rejecting almost all of Mr. Bush-Brown's designs for pillars, scrolls and figures and said that the Commissioners were so prejudiced against Mr. Bush-Brown that they even rejected copies of Michael Angelo's work when submitted by Mr. Bush-Brown just as a test.

"That grotesque and faise statement," and Mr. Warner, "does Mr. Bush-Brown even greater injustice than it does the Commissioner.

"We recognize Mr. Bush-Brown as an able sculptor and have accepted most of his work. Decision on other submissions by him is now pending."

Each year we take over the surplus editions of publishers who print none but worthy books. The fad for changing the styles of bindings is responsible for bringing many books that otherwise would not be obtainable under-price.

The present collection is very broad in the selection it offers, in fact we have rarely known such a presentation of thoroughly good books at such small cost. It is a great economy-time for libraries, public and private. There are fascinating counterfuls of Miscellaneous Books at each of the following prices—8c, 10c, 12c, 15c, 18c, 20c, 25c and 35c. The Greatest Selling We Ever Knew

In China, Glass and Bric-a-Brac

AST week we sold almost twice as much as we did the same week of the Sale of the year before—almost half as much as during the entire month of March last year. And that March Sale was a record-breaker itself.

But such tremendous selling is not at all surprising to those who see the merchandise offered.

New York never saw such splendid values before; and New York housekeepers are beginning to realize what this March Sale of China at Wanamaker's means. The selling has taxed our facilities; but its effect on the special stocks is not seen on the counters as yet. We made un ual preparations, and the counters today are filled with the same magnificent variety, and the same splendid values as were presented a week ago. Here are a few of the details:
